The Venue

The 675,000-square-foot, state-of-the-art sports and entertainment venue will be home to the professional basketball team the Brooklyn Nets. For the first time since the Dodgers left in 1957, Brooklyn will have a major league sports team to call its own. The Barclays Center will welcome some of the most exciting sports and entertainment events in the world: concerts, fine arts performances, circuses, college basketball games, ice shows, and music award shows are just some of the possibilities.

The Barclays Center will be a community centerpiece for the borough. FCRC has worked with local organizations to ensure the venue is an integral part of the community, where local college and high school athletes will have a new stage to showcase their skills. The Center will also host thousands of proud families and friends for college and high school graduations.

The design of the Barclays Center achieves a striking balance between iconic form and performative engage street. It is legible at multiple scales; on the skyline, from 5 blocks away, standing on the plaza and touching door, while maintaining an identity that delights visitors, neighbors, fans, and spectators.

Site Context and Development

Integrated into one of the busiest urban intersections in the New York metro area, Barclays Center will sustain interactive dialogue with the surrounding streets and neighborhood. The Main Public Concourse is placed directly at sidewalk level - and predominately glazed where it meets the sidewalks to ensure direct accessibility and clear view in and out of the building.
